Setting

The story happens at night in a small shared apartment. Most scenes are in the kitchen and living area. The place looks warm and calm at first, but the light and sound slowly change, making the atmosphere feel strange and tense.

Plot Summary

The trailer starts with fast flashes of someone cooking — hands taking food from a bag, lights flickering, and a knife cutting. Then the screen turns black.

A man knocks on the door. A opens it, confused. Suddenly, B runs out from behind and greets the man like an old friend. She leads him into the apartment, while A looks uncomfortable and annoyed.

Later, A cooks again. The lights flash. She serves dinner and sits with B, both smiling. Everything looks normal, but the feeling is not. The camera moves to the sink with running water, then to a plastic bag near A that moves slightly — leaving a silent question about what really happened.

Main Characters

A: She seems polite but easily gets annoyed.

B: A friend of the man, unaware of A's dark mood.

The Man: Acts kind and familiar, but his sudden visit makes the apartment feel unsafe.

Mood and Tone

The beginning feels warm and peaceful. As more scenes appear, the lights, sounds, and camera angles slowly build tension. By the end, the atmosphere becomes quiet, cold, and mysterious, leaving the audience uneasy and curious about the truth.
